IT WINS GERTIE LORD'S MOTHER TO HIS SIDE OF THE CASE.

Justice Kilbreth-Mr. Jenkins's Society Then Takes Up the Case and Has Gertie mmitted to a House of Mercy-Steve's

While he was sitting in the Tombs Police ort this morning, waiting to be arraigned efore Justice Kilbreth on the charge of abfucting sixteen-year-old Gertrude Lord, of Albany, Steve Brodie, of bridge jumping nooriety brought to mind the curious coincince that two years ago this very day he was the same court and before the same Judge o answer the charge of attempted suicide in to answer the enarge of attempted suicide in dropping from the Brooklyn Bridge.

The charge in the present case, however, was apparently much more serious, and Steve's look of anxiety was heightened by the experience which he had last night in the Mulberry street station.

To the reporters who sounded him on the subject of his arrest, he declined to make any statement, except that he was ready to marry the girl as soon as he was permitted to do so.

marry the girl as soon as he was permitted to do so.

The girl, Gertrude Lord, who was arrested last night with Brodie at his place in the Bowery, was in the hands of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. She met Brodie when he went to Albany in April last to make preparations for his swimming trip down the Hudson, and became so intimate with him that when he left that city she followed him to New York, and has been living with him here ever since.

The steps to rescue her from the life which she has been leading for the past two months in this city was begun by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children in Albany at the request of the mother, who is a widow.

The proceedings resulted in the granting of the warrant yesterday by Justice Kilbreth at the instance of Agent Stocking, of the New York society, and the arrest of Brodie last night by Agent Gardner.

Mrs. Lord, the mother of the girl, arrived in town this morning, fully determined to do all is her covert to reclaim her arring daugh.

Mrs. Lord, the mother of the girl, arrived in town this morning, fully determined to do all in her power to reclaim her erring daughter. She is an emmently respectable lady, of middle age, and is said to live in comfortable circumstances at 112 North Pearl street, Albany. She made her appearance at the Tombs and saw Brodie when he arrived there, shortly before 9 o'clock, under the escort of Officer Kline, of the Mulberry street station.

The ex-bootblack pleaded so effectively with the old lady, protesting his ardent love for the daughter and his anxiety to marry her, while denying that he had abducted her and saying that she had followed him to New York of her own free will, that her revolutions were shattered and she was half inclined to let her daughter remain where she clined to let her daughter remain where she was.

The society, however, represented by Mr.
Jenkins, would hear of no such thing, and on information that the girl was under sixteen years of age insisted upon carrying the prosecution against Brodie to the bitter end.

on information that the girl was under sixteen years of age insisted upon carrying the prosecution against Brodie to the bitter end.

At this the mother turned about and said that the girl was sixteen years old on April 9 last, which destroyed the case of the society against Brodie so far as the charge of abduction was concerned and made the three agents who were present look rather blue.

Meanwhile, the girl had been brought into the court and was hustled through into the examination-room.

Bhe is petite in form and has a remarkably pretty face, with large, dark violet eyes, shaded by long black lashes.

She wore a broad-brimmed brown straw hat, trimmed with a lot of bobbing yellow flowers, a red jacket and a gray skirt. As she caught sight of Steve on one of the back benches in the prisoner's pen she smiled and nodded, and seemed to regard the whole affair as a big joke.

Then followed a number of conferences in the back room, in which Mrs. Ford, Gertrude, Steve Brodie and his counsel, Lawyer Price, and the officers of the society took part. Several times Steve was seen to argue forcibly with the old lady, and the latter seemed to be in a relenting mood.

Fins ly they all went out into the court and appeared before Judge Kilbreth. The latter, after looking over the complaint, asked Mrs. Lord now old her daughter was, and she replied that she was sixteen last April.

"Well, that settles the case, as far as I can see," said the Judge, "and the prisoner is discharged."

"Bold up," said Agent Gardner, "we have another complaint against Brodie."

Then be proceeded to read an affidavit setting forth that Brodie had now three children who were being supported by the county, two in St. Ann's and one in the "Drumgoole House," and for whom he had repeatedly refused to pay board for his children and professed his willingness to do so. The Judge have been supported by the county into some institution of refuge and was ready to consent was needed. The latter, in the meanwhile, had been persuaded that it would be the best

Washing Compound
Invented by James Pyle, New York, 1876,

Introduced to the Public, 1877. An article to take the place of soap. One which makes clothing, paint, woodwork, in fact anything perfectly clean, with less rubbing, and in less time than anything yet discovered, and which is withal absolutely harmless. Above is a diagram of the comparative growth of sales during the last ten years-mark the yearly increase and especially that of 1888, which represents only the first six months of the year. To-day PEARLINE is used in over one million families, from Maine to California. This wonderful growth in the face of many imitations, which are damaging to clothing and paint, and make people regard an honest article with suspicion, is marvelous and can be due alone to merit. A fair trial, which will cost but a few pennies, will make a convert of the most skeptical. See that you get the genuine article, which alone will give satisfaction. Every package bears the name of "JAMES PYLE, New York."
